

Feast of Blessed Antonio Rosmini

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

It is only when we feel we having nothing to hope for from ourselves that we really put our hopes in God. We need experience: the knowledge gained by the mind alone is too cold and ineffectual without that experiential knowledge which Christ and the saints had, according to the Apostle's words: "He learned obedience through the things he suffered"

Antonio Rosmini (1797-1855)

Next Week's Gospel Reading

Fourteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

(8th July 2018)

Gospel – Mark 6:1-6

He left that place and came to his home town, and his disciples followed him. On the Sabbath he began to teach in the synagogue, and many who heard him were astounded. They said, "Where did this man get all this? What is this wisdom that has been given to him? What deeds of power are being done by his hands! Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary and brother of James and Joses and Judas and Simon, and are not his sisters here with us?" And they took offence at him. Then Jesus said to them, "Prophets are not without honour, except in their home town, and among their own kin, and in their own house." and he could do no deed of power there, except that he laid his hands on a few sick people and cured them. And he was amazed at their unbelief.
